Privacy Policy

This document sets out our privacy policy for this website and how we safeguard the privacy of our website visitors.

Logging access to our web site

This website uses IP addresses and cookies to collect data about how the site is used to enable us to understand and respond to the needs of our users. IP addresses are not linked to individuals and the data we collect does not contain any personally identifiable information.

Cookies

A cookie is a message (usually in the form of a unique ID number) given to a Web Browser by a Web Server. The Browser stores this message in a text file on the user's hardware. This message is then sent back to the Server each time the Browser requests a page from the Server. This allows web applications to respond to you as an individual and tailor their operations to your needs by customizing its pages for you.

We may also use cookies to keep track of users whilst navigating the website to identify which pages are being used. This helps us to analyse data about web page traffic and improve our website. A cookie in no way gives us access to your computer or any information about you. Most Web Browsers automatically accept cookies, but you can usually modify your Browser's settings to decline cookies if you prefer, although this will have a negative effect upon the usability of many websites. Cookies are deleted from your computer either when you close your Browser or reach a specified expiry date.

Google Analytics

Portions of this website use Google Analytics, a web analytics service provided by Google, Inc. ("Google"). Google Analytics uses "cookies", which are text files placed on your computer, to help the website analyse how users use the website. The information generated by the cookie about your use of the website (including your IP address) will be transmitted to and stored by Google on servers in the United States.

Google will use this information for the purpose of evaluating your use of the website, compiling reports on website activity for website operators and providing other services relating to website activity and internet usage. Google may also transfer this information to third parties where required to do so by law, or where such third parties process the information on Google's behalf. Google will not associate your IP address with any other data held by Google.

StatCounter

This website uses StatCounter.com to count the number of visits and page loads made on this site. StatCounter.com is a third party analytics service. Information, including your IP address, will be stored on external servers. This information is used to gather information on website visits and traffic for statistical purposes only and is not used to identify individuals. Personally identifiable information such as visitor's name, telephone number, postal address and email address are technically impossible for StatCounter.com to collect and no attempt is made to do so. The information that is recorded consists of the date and time of visit, ip address, browser (e.g. Firefox 3.5), operating system version (e.g. Windows XP), screen resolution (e.g. 800x600), referring link, the current page url and the current page title. To enable StatCounter.com to track whether a visitor has been to your website before (i.e. a first-time or returning visitor) they send a cookie to your visitors' computer. This information is collected solely to improve the service they offer to you and statistical purposes and is not used to identify individuals.

StatCounter.com maintains a strict "no-spam" policy. Your e-mail address will not be sold to a third party.

Third party links

This website may contain links to enable you to visit other websites of interest easily. If you use these links then you leave our website.
